THE PPO NETWORK CENTRIFUGE

INETICO delivers unprecedented savings to you by identifying the most appropriate primary networks for your groups and members. Our detailed Geographic and Claims analysis program specifically pinpoints which network is most appropriate for your group. This detailed analysis can even identify specific members that may require alternate primary network access providing you with the highest possible savings. Since INETICO is an independent PPO relationship manager, we present the greatest savings opportunity to you through our national, regional or local PPO network partners. Often a wrap network with similar discounts to the primary network may be recommended as a logo'ed partner on the ID card to cover the gap for members who travel or who may be required to seek services unavailable through the primary network.

THE ANALYTICAL EVALUATION PROCESS:

- Geographic access analysis of the group and members for network identification
- Claims history analysis reviewed to identify best network discounts
- Best primary networks identified down to the member level
- Network alternatives comparing greatest provider access vs. savings and vice versa
- Primary network recommendations established and logo'ed wrap networks suggested

REPRICING ADMINISTRATION

To ensure repricing accuracy and speed, INETICO extends several claims submission options to our valued clients. EDI (Electronic Data Interchange) is the most preferred method. INETICO offers on-line web-based repricing and paper submission options to clients with alternative needs.

Since INETICO's goal is to ensure that 100% of your claims are discounted, any claim that is not discounted through the primary network is often repriced through wrap and supplementary relationships. If no network is available, the INETICO negotiations analysts immediately contact the provider with an appropriately proposed rate adjustment. With signed provider approval, the analyst passes the discount back to the payor.

WHY INETICO:

- Multiple networks managed through one portal (INETIPASS)
- Deep provider discounts averaging 20-50 % (depending on network and market)
- 1st tier network coverage through negotiated discounts
- Individualized network assignment by group and member
- On-line claims repricing transparency through INETIPASS
- Clinical data-mining and predictive modeling available to INETICARE users
